Group 4

The McChalva. McIntire High School, Charlottesville.

This annual is a good piece of work when measured with other books in its group, but a little effort might make it a fine book. Your format and makeup is uninspired and unimaginative. The photography is only fair while the art work is quite good of its kind. The book appears to give a complete picture of the school year. Your senior section gives too much white space; descriptions or thumb-nail sketches of the seniors would have helped to counteract it. The ad section could have been more pleasing and attractive.

Introduction

We, the staff of THE MCCHALVA, believe that this book needs no introduction. It is a record of McIntire's first year in the "postwar" world, which has indeed been an active one. As soon as the routine of classes had put us back on the road to learning, we turned our efforts toward the reorganization of the clubs and school activities for peacetime. The girls' basketball team won the championship for District "F" and Mr. Allen sponsored the opening of the gymnasium for the "Friday For Fun" club members. In March the chorus attended the music festival at Charlotte Court House. Before we realized it, graduation brought about the end of another school year. Here is the record we kept to help you remember 1945-46.

Dedication

We, the Seniors feel the greatest esteem in dedicating this, the fourth volume of THE MCCHALVA, to our principal and friend, Robert W. Allen, who has toiled day after day over his thankless task.

The purpose of the McIntire Safety Patrol is to maintain order in the school building and on the school grounds.

After Safety Patrol installations in the fall, the white belted members were seen everywhere, doing a very successful job of keeping order and helping to make the school function more smoothly.

Although not many members of our class had any special job all have taken part in one way or another with the publication of our yearbook. Without, however, the support of the underclassmates, we could not have succeeded with it.

We sincerely hope we have planted many pleasant memories in your minds through this, our last contribution, THE MCCHALVA.

Seven times this year the ink-smeared staff of The McIntirian published their newspaper, with news of high school, grades and sports. On Thursdays we met in the library to make important decisions on lead stories, cartoons, editorials or the "Question of the Month", before the staff members were sent scurrying through the halls, in search of news or somebody to type the front page.

The girls in the 4-H Club this year spent the second Monday in each month working on two projects. In one, clothing, they learned to design and make their own clothes and in the second project, cooking, they discussed food conservation and practiced cooking simple dishes. (The cooking project was so successful that the club was entertained in March at a buffet supper and a taffy pull.)

The purpose of the Hi-Y is: "To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character."

We improved our school clinic greatly by painting it, buying curtains, a dressing table, and two scatter rugs. The girls worked at night at our sponsor's house to sew the curtains and make a dressing table skirt. The furniture was painted by the student girls of our club in their study hall periods. We have regular periods in which different girls clean and take care of our "Pride Room". In October we sent three delegates to the Hi-Y Conference. We are to have a party for the club and our annual banquet on April the 6th.

The Gold Bug Literary Society was organized to meet a cultural need for the children of McIntire. The aim of the Society is to develop the talents of the group in Reading, Music, Debating, Public Speaking, Original Poetry, Prose, Play Writing, Short Story, and One-Act Play.

Considerable talent has been shown in interpretative dancing, character singing, and poetry writing.

At Christmas the Society sponsored a poetry contest and awarded prizes to the winners.

The authors studied so far have been: Poe, Whittier, Longfellow, Hawthorne, Whitman, Lanier, and Lowell.

The Arts and Crafts Club was organized for the first time at McIntire this year. The purpose for the Club was to bring to the students of McIntire art work and handicraft work which they have not had before. Due to the fact that the activity period is so short and not many materials were available the activities carried on by the club this year were not varied. However, during the year, we have done embroidery work and knitting. During the month of February the members of the Club made Valentines and sold them to other students of the school. At the present time the girls of the Club are making scrap books to give to the boys in veterans hospitals and also to children in other hospitals. All year the boys of the club have been engaged in making model airplanes.

The Girls' Glee Club, under the sponsorship of Miss Stever, was organized at the beginning of the school year. A special program of Christmas music was given at the December Parent-Teachers' Association meeting. Later the club began rehearsing to participate in the District Music Festival at Charlotte Court House, Virginia. The Glee Club was very successful in this venture, winning second place rating in its class. The soloists who entered were equally successful. Josephine Campbell and Richard Alwood won first place ratings while our other two soloists, Barbara Odend'hal and Laura Johnson, won second place ratings. Although soloists do not compete in the State Festival, the Glee Club is now entitled to enter the State Festival held at Richmond, Virginia.

The McIntire Girls have been very successful this year. We defended our County Championship title and also won the District "F" Basketball Tournament. Our success was due to the help of our two coaches, Miss Morris and Miss France. We will lose four very fine players by graduation, Marion Houchens, Violett Bolick, Doris Staples, and Pauline Eppard. But we feel sure that the girls who take their places next year will keep the banners of McIntire waving high.

Class History

In September 1942 a group of carefree students marched gaily into McIntire High School to start a new route on life's highway to success. We had only the vaguest idea of the many barriers which would stop the person with a small ambition.

As Freshmen we started out as a class of thirty-eight, a bunch of happy-go-lucky and fun-loving youngsters, with Miss Hartt as our sponsor. As we advanced into harder studies we found that school wasn't just "a bed of roses" so we settled down and really went to work with enthusiasm and the desire to learn. Thus we climbed successfully through our first high school year with our many ambitions shining brightly before us.

Bang! Behold the studious sophomores who sat in Room 14 before Miss McClenny in 1943. Our class had decreased in size from our starting out point, but several students from Stony Point filled these vacancies. We accepted the new members with great delight. The sophomores were showing ability and talent in both literary and athletic fields, but we were to advance even further in our remaining years. We realized that each year more and more responsibilities would be placed on our shoulders, but we were preparing to take things in our stride. Again we lost quite a few members of our class, one of whom was Victor Blandin who entered the U. S. Navy.

Our junior year found us under the leadership of Miss Smith in the laboratory. We undertook many new experiences this year and enjoyed working them out. We found both our boys and girls very outstanding in athletics, public speaking, debating and other organizations this year. Our most enjoyed and important high-light of the year was our Junior-Senior Party, our last farewell to the fading Seniors of '44-'45. Time passed all too quickly and again we found ourselves at the close of another year of school. Three of our Junior boys would not be back with us for our last year in high school; Billy Spicer entered the Army; James Bibb, the Navy, and Hugh Scott transferred to Miller School.

September came again bringing with it the dignified Seniors currently residing in Room 14 with "little" Miss Morris as our Senior sponsor. Little did she know of the tasks and responsibilities involved in keeping up with our happy-go-lucky Seniors. During this year our studies became more intensive and we began to think seriously and deeply of our future. Our outstanding activities and contributions of the year were: senior play—"Your Money or Your Wife"; senior dance; representatives in debating, public speaking; the music festival; outstanding interest in sports; and last of all the annual—McCHALVA.

Class Prophecy

I was sleeping peaeefully one warm spring night when suddenly a terrifie explosion shook my room. An atomie bomb had exploded not far from my home. I dressed quiekly and went to join in the exeitement. When I arrived at the scene, I found a group of atoms looking sadly at the shattered remains of their bomb. I was surprised to find that I reeognized them. They were the Senior elass of 1946. I was very mueh interested in talking to these atoms and finding out what had happened sinee they were graduated.

I talked first to Violett Boliek. She has entered the nursing profession and is superintendent of a large hospital in New York.

Marion Honehens has finally fulfilled her dream of going to Hollywood and beeoming a movie star. From the way she talked I wouldn't be surprised if she doesn't beeome a moleeule soon. Of eourse you kuow who the lueky man is!

Atom, Doris Staples, looked very sad over her plight. She said she was hurrying to the West Coast to do some designing for a large firm there. She has beeome quite sueeessful in her professiou.

I saw Rosser Wayland digging around in the debris for his ehemistry book. He has beeome the leading ehemist of our nation. We always thought he would do something along that line.

Sommers Douglass, pardon me, Dr. Sommers Douglass was busy administering first aid to the injured when I got a ehanee to talk to him. He is the ehief physieian at one of our large hospitals. I saw no ehange in him, just the same ole Sommers.

Nelson Marrs was busy pieking up all the glass from broken windows and examining it elosely. Nelson has beeome the largest glass manufaeturer in our eountry.

Wilson Norford was standing dejeetedly among his friends wishing that they could get started. He has beeome a sueeessful business man, is a moleeule, and is busy raising a little atom.

I notieed that Roger Clements was hard at work in the middle of the wreekage. I asked him what he was doing and he said that he was trying to use his knowledge of meehanies to repair the bomb. He owns a very large maehine eompany in Washington.

Pauline Eppard was reading her handbook on flying, trying to get some information on repairing atomie bombs. Pauline owns her own flying field to whieh planes from all over the world come.

Atom, Bill Brown, was looking very bored and trying to engage someone in a eonversation on boxing when I reaehed him. Bill told me that he was doing professional boxing and held the World's Championship.

Sonny Haggard was busily engaged talking to all the pretty atoms elustered around him. He has beeome the president of a large manufaeturing firm in Ohio and is thinking of running for Congress. He is also thinking seriously of beeoming a moleeule. I wonder who the lueky girl is, "Stupid?"

Choke Haigh has become a very successful dairy farmer. He has a 2,000-acre farm and likes his work very much. He finally married that little blond atom we used to see him with so much.

Buddy Mawyer was hurrying around trying to keep law and order. They were his lawyer's traits getting the better of him. Buddy has been qualified to practice with the U. S. Supreme Court and was on his way to Washington for an important hearing.

Albert Rose was seated on a piece of rubbish preparing his sermon for the coming Sunday. He told me that his present parish is located in Florida and that he has been very active in youth work.

Jack Dorman had a very pretty atom with him. He said they were on their way to Texas to be married. Jack is the president of the First National Bank in Houston, Texas. He always did have a way with money.

I saw one atom in a blue uniform with lots of gold braid. It was Bobby Giannini. He is an admiral in the Navy and was on his way to an important conferenee in Washington.

Martha Duffer was busy reading her shorthand book. She was on her way to take dictation from a big business man in California. Martha has beeome a well-known stenographer and is much in demand.

Suddenly I heard a burst of silvery laughter. It was Georgie Criekenberger. She is still the same happy girl and is the chief operator in the telephone office in Washington, D. C.

Cecil Smith was handing out apples and oranges to all the atoms and busy eating a big red apple himself. He is the owner of Smith and Son Fruit Corporation in Okla.

Ray Garrison was looking intently at the shrubbery around a small house. Ray has beeome a well known landscape architeet. He has reeently re-done the landscaping around the White House. He was on his way to the coast to do some extra studying on new methods.

Norris Dowell was talking to some officials when I saw him and was trying to find out when they eould get away. Norris is doing electrical engineering work in a large plant in Detroit.

Then the Seniors told me that the bomb had been repaired and that they were ready to go. The talks I had had with them had certainly brought back many happy memories from the past.

What does the future hold in store for these friends of ours? Let us hope that it will be a very happy and suecessful one for each of them.

—Josephine Campbell.

The Senior Play, "Your Money or Your Wife", a farce which was written by Glenn Hughes, and directed by Miss Morris; was one of the highlights of the year.

In this hilarious play the action all occurs during the preparations for a wedding, and nothing could be more exciting or amusing than Ned Graham's attempts to keep his sweetheart, Doris, from marrying a Harvard stiff. In the end he not only wins the bride for himself, but endears himself to her father who is known as the Pickle King, by helping him find a recipe for making dill pickles crisp.

The setting of the play is the sunroom in the handsome country house of the Joneses, near New York City, and the characters are typical Americans.

How Good is Your P. L. C.?

There's no need to run to the dictionary to look up P. L. C. It simply means "Party Line Cooperation", which as you know, is what it takes to make good party line neighbors . . . Better telephone service. So won't you please keep your P. L. C. rating high? It will help us to better serve both you and your neighbors.
